

Employers' Liability Act.

1973 to January 21, 1993 - Was an associate of the Law Firm of Henslee, Monek & Henslee since September, 1973. My experience with the firm included numerous jury trials in both the State and Federal Courts where I have been admitted to practice. My primary responsibility involves the representation of individuals who have received serious personal injuries. The majority of my clients were and are injured Railroad employees whom I represent under the Federal Employers' Liability Act.

I have also represented clients with real estate, adoption, domestic, contract, corporate, and criminal matters over the years. In addition to numerous bench and jury trials, my courtroom experience includes the handling of hundreds of contested motions and the preparation, research, briefing, and arguing of matters before the Appellate Courts. As designated legal counsel for numerous Railroad labor organizations, I participated actively in and coordinated programs that were created to secure and preserve the rights of Railroad employees, with special emphasis on the FELA.

1967 - 1973 - Chicago Police Officer - Promoted to Detective in 1969 - with responsibility for investigation of major crimes, preparation of search warrants, and arrests of major criminal defendants. I have testified many times before the grand jury and in numerous courts as a patrolman and as a detective.

I have also held numerous employment positions on a part-time basis while working to complete my education.
